Superintendent's request for new election denied

By RICH ADAMS

A request from outgoing Hancock County School Superintendent Terrell Randolph to throw out the West Shoreline Park ballot box from the August primary election due to allegedly illegal voting was rejected by the Hancock County Democratic Executive Committee Thursday night.

Randolph said he will take the matter before a special tribunal authorized under a special Mississippi law to hear election issues.

Randolph claims some 41 votes in the box were cast by residents of the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District, and assumes the votes were cast for his opponent, Billy Sills, who won the Democratic nomination for the superintendent spot.

The committee's rejection of the request followed some two hours of argument by attorneys for the candidates.

Randolph is represented in the matter by Gulfport Attorney Ben Galloway, and Sills is represented by Attorneys Richard Dymond and Eugene Lawley, both of Gulfport, and Anne Williamson of Bay St. Louis.

Committee Chairman Joseph Benvenuti explained the committee's role was to decide whether to call a new election in the West Shoreline box.

Galloway introduced seven pieces of evidence, including poll books, voter registration books, maps of the area in question, and an affidavit signed by County Tax Assessor Edward Murtagh certifying the persons in question own land within the Municipal Separate School District.

Dymond then introduced two pieces of evidence, a cross-petition filed against Randolph and a certified copy of a surety bond obtained by Randolph prior to the election.

Dymond said allegations of fraud, which he claims are Randolph's allegations, must be individually specified and proven.

"There are no allegations of specific acts, and no allegations of specific intent to fraud," Dymond said.

"These votes may have been cast by mistake rather than an intent to fraud," Dymond continued.

"Specificity is required, and this petition does not specify any individual acts." Another point is in order to properly allege fraud, Mr. Randolph must prove the illegal votes were cast for Mr. Sills, and if not cast for Sills, the petition must show the election would have gone the other way," he added. Galloway then addressed the committee, and said the burden of showing the votes were in favor of a certain candidate is on the contestee, or Sills. Galloway quoted from a case in which two election managers had failed to comply with instructions, and the election was held again without any mention of fraudulent activities.

"The Supreme Court decided that the election should be purged as wrong, and held again to let right prevail," Galloway said.

"As to Mr. Dymond's contentions that we must show all the allegedly illegal votes were for Mr. Sills, that is impossible. If we called all of the Sills supporters to the stand, they would say, 'We voted for Randolph.' The burden is on the respondent (Sills) to show how the voters voted," he added.

Dymond then argued that the petition was filed under the wrong statute, citing another statute under which an elector may be contested.

He also quoted from past cases, and said the burden of proving who the votes were cast for upon Randolph.

"Anyway, Mr. Randolph left the box by a two-to-one margin," Dymond contended.

He quoted a Supreme Court ruling in

NSTL features ride-sharing show

To further energy conservation at National Space Technology Laboratories, a "Ride-sharing Vehicle Show" was featured at the facility Friday, exhibiting buses, vans and the standard automobile.

"NSTL in Hancock County has some 3,200 employees, and the average round trip distance for an employee is 45 miles," K.R. Daughtry, NSTL energy resources manager stated.

"Our goal," he continued, "is to have at least two people in every vehicle that enters the facility."

Ride-sharing this year at NSTL has increased from an average of 1.2 to 1.6

people per vehicle, he said.

The ride-sharing show provided vehicle owners, potential riders and drivers an opportunity to discuss fares, routes and work shifts and to launch the NSTL Commuter Computer program which matches poolers from neighborhoods on the Coast, Picayune and Slidell to their work locations.

Daughtry said ride-sharing is not a new means of getting to work for NSTL employees and the practice is increasing, particularly with gasoline in short supply and prices at $1-a-gallon.

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY WEATHER & CROP REPORT, WEEK ENDING SEPTEMBER 16

WEATHER SUMMARY (National Weather Service)

Hurricane Frederic caused heavy rains in many eastern counties on Thursday the 13th as it moved northward along the Mississippi-Alabama state line.

Average rainfall amounts in the east were four to five inches with higher amounts in extreme southeast Mississippi.

Merrill reported the largest one day total of 9.0 inches on the 13th. Rainfall amounts were lighter in a western area. The Mississippi river received little or none.

A weak cold front on the 8th and 9th cooled temperatures slightly, but a strong cold front on the 14th dropped temperatures much more.

Highest was 93 at Greenwood on the 7th...lowest 52 at Kosciusko and Holly Springs on the 9th. Pleasant temperature and dry weather continued on Saturday...but by Sunday showers crept back into the state.

Rainfall totals were light however.

CROP SUMMARY: Hurricane Frederic caused extensive damage to pecan and fruit trees in southeast Mississippi. Soybeans were also damaged by high winds and standing water in the eastern one-third of the state with the heaviest damage in the southeast. Let soybeans in some areas of the state benefited from rainfall associated with the storm.

Soil moisture supplies ranged from surplus to short but ratings were mostly adequate to surplus. An average of 4.1 days was suitable for fieldwork compared to 5.2 days last week and 3.7 days for the same week last year.

Twenty-seven percent of the soybean acreage was shedding leaves or more advanced compared to 49 percent last year and 29 percent for the 5-year average. About 6 percent of the acreage was mature compared to 15 percent last year and 9 percent average. Harvest is just getting underway with only a few fields harvested while last year at this time about one percent of the acreage had been harvested. The crop was in good condition except in areas with hurricane damage.

Forty-three percent of the cotton acreage had open bolls compared to 84 percent last year and 54 percent for the 5-year average. Although the first bale of 1979 cotton has been ginned, harvest is not yet generally underway. Last year at this time four percent of the acreage was harvested and the average for the year is about 3 percent. Cotton condition was rated fair to good.

Things are really looking good for the residents of the Kiln area with the tentative signing of the contracts for the big water and fire protection system.

Many hours of time have been donated by several individuals during the past few years rounding up customers for the system.

We have to commend each and everyone of you for doing an outstanding job.

Charles Benigno, branch manager for Jim Walter Homes said Wednesday for the first time in his 18 years working for the firm, to his knowledge, building materials stolen from a construction job were recovered.

Benigno said many times materials have been stolen but never found, 2X4's, 2X6's and 4X8 sheets of plywood were recovered by Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner and his deputies in shoreline Park last week.

There is an opportunity for several of you to have a good time if you are interested in acting.

Tonight and tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. will be tryouts for five male and three female roles in the up coming production of "Finishing Touches" directed by Susan Smith assisted by Mary Carter. The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre is located on Boardman Ave.

The Bay-Waveland Humane Society is persisting in a difficult task. They are working very hard to keep their spay-neuter program going.

Society members are planning their annual rummage sale Friday and Saturday and they could use a little help with some items.

If you have anything to donate, please give them a call at 467-9548, and of course don't forget to visit them at 113 Jeff Davis during those two days to purchase some of the items they will be selling.

The West Hancock volunteer Fire Department, the newest member of the Hancock County Firefighters Association is sponsoring a turkey shoot starting at 10 a.m. today. The unit is very active and needs many items to help build the fire department everyone in the Pearl River area can be proud of being a member.

So if you think you are skillful with the shotgun, pay them a visit at the C.B. Murphy school grounds today.

Extra Gasoline Inside Car Could Explode In Collision

MISSISSIPPI STATE — Carrying extra gasoline to avoid a gas shortage while traveling is like carrying a liquid bomb, says Dannie Reed, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service farm safety specialist.

The dangerous, flammable fuel should not be carried in a car's passenger area or trunk or stored in the home. A can of gas has about the same explosive power as 14 sticks of dynamite.

Gasoline vapors are heavier than air and can flow invisibly along the ground. They can be ignited by a spark or flame from a considerable distance, he adds.

A tool rattling around in the trunk could create a spark that could ignite leaky gasoline vapors. Any smell of gasoline in a car trunk is evidence of a vapor leak in the container, says Reed.

If you are carrying gas in your car trunk, your car may explode if it's hit from the rear," he warns. "If you must buy and store gasoline, use only approved safety cans which have flame arresters and pressure release valves. These containers should be made of heavy-gauge metal with spring-loaded closures. They can be identified if they are approved by Underwriters Laboratory, the National Fire Protection Association or the National Bureau of Standards," he adds.

Never keep gasoline in glass bottles. Don't store it in your home, even if it is in a safety can. Keep it away from living quarters and in a well-ventilated area.

Do not siphon gasoline by mouth. If it gets in your lungs, a few drops can kill you. If gasoline is swallowed accidentally, don't induce vomiting. Call a doctor right away.

MISSISSIPPI ECONOMIC COUNCIL —
THE STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

TEACHER CERTIFICATION

The president of the Mississippi Economic Council urged the State Department of Education to seriously consider studies designed to measure the effect of teacher certification standards.

"The quality of education in the public schools in Mississippi," said MEC President Benton Cain of Jackson, "must be improved for the sake of the future of this state. A quality education program is essential to Mississippi's economic, cultural, and social development. The schools must maintain their integrity and strive for quality instructional standards."

At present, all teachers in the state are required to take the National Teachers Examination to be certified, and a minimum score of 350 is required for certification.

The minimum score of 350 is the lowest in the nation. Most states require minimum scores of 1,100 to 1,200 for certification — according to State Department of Education officials — with 1,200 considered average.

Presently, the NTE is the subject of a validation study to measure the effect of using the test to upgrade teacher certification in the state. Results reportedly, are to be released in two weeks.

"It is time," said Cain, "that Mississippians are assured unquestioned quality and ability in those being certified to teach. MEC recommends the use of an acceptable examination to determine the professional qualifications of applicants for teacher's licenses. Such examinations should include general knowledge and knowledge of the specific subject area in which the applicant would be certified."

Bursitis Brings Pain in Joints

Sometimes it's "housemaids knee." Or "policeman's heel."

By any other name it's still bursitis. It is one of mankind's more painful and disabling ailments.

Bursitis, says the American Medical Association, means inflammation of a lubricating sac about a joint. The sac, called a bursa, is similar to a collapsed balloon with some fluid inside. It is located at various places in the body where joints or tissues touch and rub. Without cushioning there would be friction.

Bursitis can hit many points in the body, but most often occurs in the shoulder, elbow or knee.

In almost every case bursitis follows unaccustomed strain or overuse of a limb. By taking a little time to warm up to your physical condition, and especially your doctor can do to relieve the pain and promote healing. One of the mainstays in treatment is a mild pain killer. Cortisone-type drugs have been used with some success. Heat treatments also have their place in bursitis therapy. In extreme cases, surgery may be required.

The basic treatment is complete rest in bed. Anything that will lessen the chance of the afflicted joint being moved will ease the pain and speed healing.

Like bearings in mechanical things, your bursa stay trouble-free much longer if you warm up slowly and let them get fully lubricated before you race the motor.

Awfully back you said wage increases caused inflation. What about deficit spending? I thought that was the cause. Confused But Trying.

Dear CBT: Don't feel lonesome as well as confused. You are not alone—as a matter of fact if you could pin down most economists they would admit the same dilemma.

Deficit spending as advocated by Keynes (John Maynard) got the economy going after the great depression, but has since fallen into disrepute as the culprit in inflation.

But Keynes noted that inflation would result from deficit spending and regarded a small rate of inflation as a healthy sign of economic growth.

So deficit spending is not in itself the culprit—runaway deficit spending, as anything else done to excess, very well may become a villain.

Most of us love what little financial success we may enjoy in hard work and the fact that we borrowed wisely to finance a home and possibly a business or other income producing property.

This borrowing was deficit spending, but it was done within the ability to repay and was not for consumer goods or property that decreased in value.

So deficit spending for the right thing at the right time is good—but borrowing to maintain a standard of living we could never hope to afford would be foolhardy.

Placing limits on such spending would be absurd for the problem is not how much, but what for.

Any prudent businessman knows there are times to borrow and times to cutback.

There are times to expand and times to hold or even withdraw from business.

What the real problem seems to be is indiscriminate borrowing with a perverted confidence that things will work out. And the only way it can work out is by more and more inflated dollars to repay past debts.

And like more economists, of which group I do not claim membership, I should hedge by saying, I think.

Someone said years ago, what we need is a few one-armed economists.

This would preclude them saying after a lengthy explanation such as this, "But on the other hand..."

Pirates unveil backfield depth to trounce Tigers

By EDGAR PEREZ
The Pass Christian Pirates, running for the first time this season as an 11-man team, capitalized on that unity and costly mistakes by Bay High's Tigers Friday night in McDonald Stadium to win the Pascagoula River Conference event 21-6.

Pass in first conference win, 21-9

"They had it together Friday night, they were hungry for that game," Bay High's Head Coach James (Snuffy) Smith said Saturday.

The Tigers were faced with a triple-threat attack from the Pirate backfield, with John Pat Swanner and James Cannon running well in addition to the Pass stalwart Gene Lang.

"Everybody we play is going to key in on Gene," said Pirate Assistant Coach Mike

Davis, "so we're fortunate to have backs like Swanner and Cannon."

"We had a real good game in the secondary," Davis added.

Switching John Pat Swanner from the linebacker slot to strong safety was the factor in his performances on both of the defense against the Tigers, Davis explained. The Pass coach said his team's victory Friday was registered against a Tiger squad which is "a lot stronger than they have been in some time."

"Bay High is not through winning this season," Davis added.

Bay High took the opening kickoff but lost the initiative when Chuck Benigno's third down pass to Stephen Hargett was intercepted by the Pirates deep in their own territory.

Lang, Cannon, Quarterback Smokey Swanner and John Pat Swanner combined forces to move the Pirates from their own 15 in ten plays to the Tiger 25.

"We had an opportunity to win, we tried," Coach Smith said later. "But we made a couple of mistakes that caused the game to go the other way."

That opportunity came about mid-way into the third quarter when Tiger defenses tightened up to strangle a 30-yard drive by the Pirates who had maintained control through 10 tries.

Bailey, attempting a punt from the Tiger 45, bobbled a low pass from center. The punt was blocked and the Tigers recovered the ball at the Pass 43.

Alex Harrington kept the Tigers alive with a first down at the Pirate 32.

Benigno kept it that way with a 12 yard jaunt down to the 20, followed by a quarterback sneak four plays later for a first down at the Pirate nine.

After two tries and a delaying penalty, Benigno, finding himself 18 yards short of a first down, connected with Hargett just short of necessary yardage.

With Cabaniss back to punt, Benigno kept the ball and drove up to his own 47 and new life.

Pirate defenses closed in, and the Tigers were forced to punt. Cabaniss booted a beauty from his 40 to the Pass five where Bailey set the stage for the first scoring series with a runback to his own 34.

John Pat Swanner picked up 27 on third down to put the highwaymen of the seas in business on Tiger home ground.

After an attempt by Lang, John Pat brought home another first down, this time at the Tiger 25.

An off sides infraction by the Tigers gave the Pirates all they needed with a first down at the 12.

Lang took three off the needed yardage, then John Pat took a handoff from Smokey and broke through for six points.

An attempt by John Pat to add one more went astray.

The Tigers started moving again after the kickoff from their own 25. Eight end Bobby Waterman took a handoff from Benigno to capture a first down at the 35.

With time running out on third and nine, Benigno unleashed bomb to Hargett, but Lang stepped in for an interception to end the drive as well as the first half.

"We had an opportunity to win, we tried," Coach Smith said later. "But we made a couple of mistakes that caused the game to go the other way."

That opportunity came about mid-way into the third quarter when Tiger defenses tightened up to strangle a 30-yard drive by the Pirates who had maintained control through 10 tries.

Bailey, attempting a punt from the Tiger 45, bobbled a low pass from center. The punt was blocked and the Tigers recovered the ball at the Pass 43.

Alex Harrington kept the Tigers alive with a first down at the Pirate 32.

Benigno kept it that way with a 12 yard jaunt down to the 20, followed by a quarterback sneak four plays later for a first down at the Pirate nine.

On fourth and goal, Benigno handed off the football and the honors to Alex Harrington who took it in the rest of the way to tie up the ball game.

In a Tiger version of the old shoestring play, they drew a five yard delaying penalty when Cabaniss had trouble with his footwork before the attempted conversion.

He missed the try from further out, his first time this year to miss a pat.

Smith said he feels it was better to reserve their time out at that point since an additional five yards on the kick attempt was no problem for Joe.

If he was going to miss it, the five yards wouldn't have been the difference," Smith said.

The Pirates turned around to make it look like Bay High's night with a fumble-on-first down at their own 22.

After six plays, the Tigers faced fourth and 16 at the 20.

As if to support his mentor's earlier assessment of his abilities, Cabaniss sent the ball flying in a field goal attempt from his own 28, a 38-yard kick which was good, putting the Tigers ahead 9 to 6.

Scheduling robbed St. Stanislaus Rockachaws Friday night from capturing their third straight victory.

SSC's winning streak was temporarily halted in a contest against a huge team, in size and numbers, from Louisiana called the Slidell Tigers.

Slidell won the football game 20 to 0 scoring all its points in the first half.

St. Stanislaus's defense performed well against the non-Mississippi or foreign team at Rockachaw Stadium Friday.

Though the Louisiana team is much larger, the rock defense smacked up two of Slidell's key players during the game, quarterback Brent Verwayvelt and running back Steve Hartley, sending them sprawling to the ground in pain.

SSC's offense tried in vain to score, but only gained 32 yards running and 31 in the air against the large Louisiana.

SSC fullback Scott Senner, however, refused to be completely stopped on several runs and struggled courageously for an extra one, two or three yards in spite of the Tigers' wall-like defense.

None of the other local teams, Bay Senior High, Pass Christian and Hancock-North Central, have or will compete against the Slidell Tigers this year.

The Hawks were unable to move the ball further, and were forced to punt.

On the next series of Hawk plays, Vancleave delivered the final blow when Ricky

Ladner's conversion attempt failed and with 2:00 remaining in the fourth, Vancleave led 14-0.

In the fifth quarter, Hancock was deep within Vancleave's 10-yard line and capitalized to score.

During the final series of plays in the second half, the game was ruled a tie. Allie

Wolff's goal on the Vancleave 10-yard line, and

When the Pirates then found themselves with fourth and 11 on their own 36, Bailey, in punt position, appeared to drop the ball, picked it up, and hauled up to the 47 for a first down.

"What play was the key to the game," Smith lamented. "I don't know if it was a fake punt or a busted play, but either way, it changed things for the rest of the night," he continued.

Smokey Swanner connected with Dwight Dedeaux to give the Pirates a first down at the Tiger 12.

Cannon took the ball inside the one, where Smokey found easy going into the end zone.

A Smokey pitchout to Lang brought a two-point icing to the game which was fast becoming a piece of cake for the Pirates.

Feeling the pressure, the Tigers faked a fourth down punt from their own 40, but a Benigno bomb was incomplete.

Lang liked the look of things from his vantage point at the Tiger 52, broke loose and hung up another 6 points for his side.

The Pirates added good measure with a one-point conversion, locking in the story as it would be told for the evening on the scoreboard, 21-9.

Smith revealed an ace-in-the-hole when Benigno took a breather late in the game, and Quarterback Don Ginn completed a bomb to Clark Breland at the Pirate 26.

Ginn also connected with Hargett for 18.

That Tiger chance for another score was erased, however, when Bailey snatched the next Ginn pass at the 10 with time running out.

Slidell, 20—Stanislaus, 0

BY LESLIE WILLIAMS
Scheduling robbed St. Stanislaus Rockachaws Friday night from capturing their third straight victory.

SSC's winning streak was temporarily halted in a contest against a huge team, in size and numbers, from Louisiana called the Slidell Tigers.

Slidell won the football game 20 to 0 scoring all its points in the first half.

St. Stanislaus's defense performed well against the non-Mississippi or foreign team at Rockachaw Stadium Friday.

Though the Louisiana team is much larger, the rock defense smacked up two of Slidell's key players during the game, quarterback Brent Verwayvelt and running back Steve Hartley, sending them sprawling to the ground in pain.

SSC's offense tried in vain to score, but only gained 32 yards running and 31 in the air against the large Louisiana.

SSC fullback Scott Senner, however, refused to be completely stopped on several runs and struggled courageously for an extra one, two or three yards in spite of the Tigers' wall-like defense.

None of the other local teams, Bay Senior High, Pass Christian and Hancock-North Central, have or will compete against the Slidell Tigers this year.

The Hawks were unable to move the ball further, and were forced to punt.

On the next series of Hawk plays, Vancleave delivered the final blow when Ricky

Ladner's conversion attempt failed and with 2:00 remaining in the fourth, Vancleave led 14-0.

In the fifth quarter, Hancock was deep within Vancleave's 10-yard line and capitalized to score.

During the final series of plays in the second half, the game was ruled a tie. Allie

This will mark the first local game for the St. Stanislaus team.

As a bystander remarked, "Why is a school with 300 highschool students competing against a AAAA rated school that has 1,100 high school students—the band has as many people as our football team."

The Rockachaws are scheduled to play Hancock-North Central Hawks there this Friday.

Bulldogs down Hawks

By RICH ADAMS

The HNC Hawks failed to capitalize on several key plays deep inside Bulldog territory and suffered a 24-6 loss in Vancleave Saturday afternoon.

HNC Head Coach Irvin Raye said the failure of capitalizing on key plays was as well as lack of execution on the part of the offense.

At the start of the second half, the Hawks had a good enough and well-timed drive to move into the end zone.

During the second half, the Hawks had several bad mistakes in the fourth quarter, but continued to play in the fourth quarter, while the Bulldogs were able to move into the end zone.

During the second half, the Hawks had a good enough and well-timed drive to move into the end zone.

Ladner's conversion attempt went to the right. It was no good.

Just prior to the end of the third quarter, Vancleave took the ball over on downs on their own 30-yard line and systematically moved the ball in for a touchdown.

The series was enlightened by Mike Seymour and Mark Wainwright, usually used in the conversion attempt.

The conversion attempt failed and with 2:00 remaining in the fourth quarter, Vancleave led 14-0.

which determination of voter preference in a contested election was impossible.

"If it is impossible to ascertain who voted in a contested election, that is just your own hard luck," Dymond said.

Galloway said an election has never been contested under any statute other than the one under which Randolph is contesting.

"The only remedy for this is re-election," he said.

Galloway showed the committee maps of the West Shoreline Park area and pointed out names of voters in the poll book who he claims own land in the Municipal Separate School District.

"We can only assume since Mr. Sills is the principal at North Bay Elementary School in the Municipal Separate District, that those 41 people voted for Sills," Galloway told the committee.

Dymond immediately objected, telling the commission "not to assume a thing."

Dymond then argued that just because voters own land in the Municipal Separate School District does not mean they reside there.

"The contestants have not called one witness to the stand. Until they call a witness and disqualify the vote, they cannot ask how that person voted," Dymond said.

"Until fraud is proven, the voter can plead the Fifth Amendment. We are duty bound as the Democratic Executive Committee to follow the law," he added.

Then Dymond introduced a cross-petition which he filed on behalf of Sills, claiming Randolph notarized a

"The bond is not signed in the proper place by Mr. Randolph, and I contend it is invalid," Dymond said.

"Mr. Randolph also notarized a number of absentee ballots in the presence of the voter, and may have intimidated the voters," he alleged.

Dymond quoted a law which says a candidate cannot distribute campaign literature within 100 feet of a polling place, and alleged that Randolph's presence when the absentee ballots were signed put the voters under "duress."

The Gulfport attorney then called Randolph to the stand, asking him to specify instances when he notarized absentee ballots at the homes of voters.

"I don't know how many. Some ballots did not even contain my name for the election," Randolph said from the stand.

Dymond asked him to specify a case in which he notarized a ballot for an invalid person.

"In one case I entered a home where the couple was invalid. I gave them the ballot, she took them to the lady and her husband, and returned them to me. I never saw the voters," Randolph recalled.

Dymond then asked Randolph to explain what happened in a specific case of notarization involving Louise Curet.

Benvenuti asked if the instance occurred in West Shoreline Park, and if not the instance would be irrelevant to the hearing.

Galloway then told the committee no law restricts a candidate from being a notary public.

He also showed the committee where Randolph had signed his application for a surety bond in two separate locations, including one below the line where he was supposed to sign.

"This is a standard bond, and I feel it is proper," Galloway said.

The committee then retired to an adjoining room for some 30 minutes.

When the committee returned, Charles Jackson made a motion to reject Randolph's petition.

The motion was seconded, and all but two committee members voted in favor of the motion.

Rosemary McFarland and Vivian Napier opposed the rejection.

Randolph said he plans to take the issue before a special tribunal.

"Based on law, I have the grounds to appeal to a special tribunal consisting of one judge appointed to hear the merits of the case," Randolph said.

Dymond said he will "take the case as far as it needs to go."

Consumer Scene

'Less is More' in Room Air Conditioners

Bigger is not always better, at least when it comes to buying room air conditioners. So consumers who are thinking about taking advantage of end-of-summer air conditioner sales should think twice about the size of the air conditioner they buy.

General Electric advises anyone considering the purchase of a room air conditioner to buy one with slightly less capacity than traditional cooling estimates would require. In most cases, an air conditioner with 10,000 to 15,000 cooling capacity per hour will cool a room more comfortably than one with too much capacity.

That's because a unit that's too large for a room may cool it down quickly and will probably do a better job of keeping you cool.

The reason that smaller room air conditioners cost less is that they're built with less cooling capacity. A smaller unit will cool a room more easily and more efficiently than a larger one.

For the sessions Mrs. Clara Riley of Jackson served as personal page to Mrs. Charping.

The Hancock County Auxiliary No. 2537, of which Mrs. Charping is a charter member, won two outstanding awards among auxiliaries throughout the Nation with under 50 membership: A citation and $5 check for having the greatest numerical gain in membership; and a citation and $5 check for greatest gain in membership.

Mrs. Elda Duke of Waveland is president and Mrs. Una Harris of Bay St. Louis is treasurer of that auxiliary. The Mississippi delegation to the convention was led by Mrs. Hazel Russum of Jackson, department president. Mrs. Russum reports the Department of Mississippi excelled in having received 15 awards of Merit and $25 cash for outstanding achievement.

BY DR. L.S.
WALKER

IT HAS BEEN SAID that a person who will not stand for something will fall for anything!

One of the greatest things that can be said of a man is that he kept his record clean. Solomon said: "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favor rather than silver and gold" (Prov. 22:1).

It is not too difficult to find a competent lawyer, a good doctor, or a good insurance agent, but it is not that easy to find a real man. What the world cries out for, and what God wants, is men and women who have principle underlying their business; men and women who stand for something worthwhile in their circle.

Everywhere we see people using deception and dishonest methods to put over a deal, or for some purpose. Some think it is the smart thing - they think they are helping themselves along, and sometimes they do get what they are after, but sooner or later their shady methods are brought to light and, after all, they are only deceiving themselves.

The old adage: "Honesty is the best policy," is still as true as ever. Every person should feel that there is something in his that bribery cannot touch, that just cannot corrupt, that money cannot buy.

If a man stands for something worthwhile, he compels recognition upon his own merits; he is not dependent upon recommendation or pull. Character is capital. A man should also stand opposed to things unbecoming Christian conduct.

"Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good" (Rom. 12:9).

YOU CAN STRIKE BACK AT INFLATION'S ATTACK!

Today, the cost of just about everything is riding a skyrocket! costs more to repair or replace property, cars, houses, more to repair people, building, construction, auto parts, mechanics' service, medical expenses and legal liability judgments are all shooting upward. We are sure rounded by inflation.

What is its impact on your insurance protection? Call us for a review of the coverages on your house, car, recreational vehicle or boat to see if they are adequately insured to current values. We can help you STRIKE BACK at inflation!

There's an Answer!

An endless circle

Q. I'm 29 years old, have 2 children and a wonderful marriage. My problem is that I feel responsible for my mother's happiness. I have to call her at least once every day or she feels hurt and neglected.

Although I may stop in and visit her, I feel guilty later when she calls and says how lonesome and boring the rest of the day was.

I have come to hate holidays when we must spend equal time with my husband's parents and mine. It is evident that I am unable to understand why just our own immediate family, when I feel guilty about being resentful. It's an endless circle and I feel I'm falling apart.

A. I know this type of thinking is so hard; you will really resent it even another minute or hour or anyone, should you become guilty again. You are learning to forgive, learning to let go.

As far as your mother is concerned, you recently seem to have become a cold, stiff and well-admired also lost his first mate by death. If we are reunited with our loved ones in those "many mansions" after death, what complication may we expect when we meet again with a previous spouse? I can predict what would happen if I met my husband's first wife, but what really happens bothers me: What will happen when my first husband meets my second husband?

A. You are trying to reason on the basis of earthly conditions, circumstances and relationships. All of these are probably dramatically different in the hereafter. But love will surely prevail in the Heavenly Kingdom as will all of the Christians there. Life will be on a higher plane where there is no selfishness or hostility. So be happy with your husband now and leave the future in God's hands.

Food Safety Is Important In Packed School Lunch

MISSISSIPPI STATE — Whether it is a brown bag lunch for work, a school lunch packed in a new lunch box or a picnic lunch, food safety is the most important part of the lunch, says Isa Kimbrough, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service food and nutrition specialist.

The keys to packing a safe lunch are good sanitation, personal hygiene and sound food care. Cook food thoroughly. Hot food should be kept above 140 degrees F and cold foods below 40 degrees. Food may not be safe to eat if it is held for more than two or three hours at temperatures between 60 degrees and 125 degrees, the zone where bacteria grow rapidly. Remember to count all time during preparation, storage and serving.

Fresh fruits and vegetables are excellent for packed lunches. Just be sure they are clean and well scrubbed, she adds.

An insulated lunch box holds the cold much better than paper bags. Keep the lunch box clean and sanitary. If you do use "brown bags," buy them specifically for lunches and use them only once.

If you have severe headache, diarrhea, vomiting, abdominal cramps and fever after eating, there is a good chance the culprit might be food poisoning. Because the symptoms are similar to "flu," food poisoning is often mistaken for it.

Food poisoning is rarely fatal, but it can severely affect infants and elderly persons. If you get sick, ask your doctor about the possibility of food poisoning. Remember: Don't take chances. You can help prevent food poisoning.

Use only clean utensils washed in hot, soapy water. Of course, your hands should be clean. Wear clean plastic gloves if they are cut on your hands, adds Mrs. Kimbrough.

Wash vacuum bottles and rinse them in boiling water after each use. Use tongs or another clean utensil — not your fingers — to place meat, poultry or cheese in a sandwich. Fingers can spread bacteria.

A vacuum bottle is a good way to keep some foods hot or cold. A freezer gel device can be used, or you can use water-frozen in a clean plastic container. Put it in the lunch box to keep food cool until you're ready to eat. Don't leave the lunch box in a warm place, such as a car, because the bacteria will grow. The longer it stays in a hot place, the greater the potential for problems, explains Mrs. Kimbrough.

Canned meat and poultry products carried in an unopened can are safe. Be sure the can is sealed and not bulged or dented. If it is cooked correctly, handled well and kept cold enough, almost any meat or poultry product can be used.
